BENTZON (Th.). Les Américaines chez elles, notes de voyage. Paris, 12mo. paper, pp. 414. $1.00.

The author (Mrs. Blanc) being herself a woman, was so much more qualified to judge the American woman at home, and she has done so with an impartiality which gives much weight to her critics.

BIBAUD (F. M. Maximilien). Biographie des Sagamos illustres de l'Amérique Septentrionale, précédée d'un index de l'histoire fabuleuse de ce continent. Montreal, 1848, 8vo. paper, pp. XXV-309. $5.00.

Montréal, 1852, 8vo. pp. 336, old calf. $5.00.

Bressani (born in 1612, died in 1672) was an Italian who was sent as missionary to Canada, where the Indians made him suffer incredible tortments. DESMAZURES (l'abbé). Histoire du chevalier d'Iberville, 1663-1706. Montreal, 1890, 8vo. cloth, pp. X-291. $4.00.

Now exceedingly scarce. Only 300 copies printed, of which the greatest number was destined to the descendants of the chevalier d'Iberville, in France, to be there distributed among friends and acquaintances. D'Iberville, born in Montreal in 1662, took a prominent part in all the important events that marked the development of the French colonies in America from 1680 to the year of his death, in 1706, and his exploits, at the head of the several expeditions he directed, from Hudson's Bay to the Caribbean Sea, rank him among the greatest sea captains of the age.

A relation of the events that took place in the gulf and river St. Lawrence, from the date of the last discoveries of Cartier to the foundation of Quebec, in 1608. There are there over sixty years of a very mysterious period in which, before M. Dionne, no historian had ventured to penetrate, at least with the object of giving so many details.

DIONNE (N. E.). Samuel Champlain, fondateur de Québec et Père de la Nouvelle-France. Histoire de sa Vie et de ses Voyages. Quebec, 1891, vol. I. (vol. II not yet published) 8vo. paper, pp. XVIII-430. $1.50.

DOCUMENTS HISTORIQUES relatifs à la Nouvelle-France, recueillis aux archives de la province de Québec, ou copiés à l'étranger, mis en ordre et édités sous les auspices de la législature de Québec.

In 1883, the government of Quebec set itself to the task of publishing all the old records that could throw light on the important events of the history of New-France. To this end, copyists were sent to Europe, whilst in the city of Quebec the archives of the province were being exhumed and put in proper order. The whole work was undertaken with great care and method, under the supervision of M. l'abbé H. R. Casgrain, and the importance, not only for Canada but also for the United States, of the documents already published, may be judged from the fact that, in a recent lecture delivered by captain Ernest Cruikshanks before the Historical Society of Buffalo, N. Y., the lecturer said that those documents would now make clear to American historians many points on which they had been in the dark until now. Indeed, in the opinion of Mr. Cruikshanks, the Canadian archives constitute the real sources of American history.

The volumes already published are the following:—

1. Collection de Manuscrits, contenant lettres, mémoires, et autres documents historiques relatifs à la Nouvelle-France. Quebec, 1883-85, 4 vols. 4to. paper, pp. VIII-637, XVII-580, 576 XVII-545. $30.00.

Vols. I and II are out of print, and are now very scarce. The 4 volumes cover the period extending from the first discoveries of Cabot to 1789.

2. Jugements et Délibérations du Conseil Souverain et du Conseil Supérieur de la Nouvelle-France. Quebec, 1885-91, 6 vols. 4to. paper, pp. LXI-1084, 1142, 1163, 1194, 1110, 1276. $25.00.

The Conseil Souverain and the Conseil Supérieur were two institutions which, under the French domination, had attributions somewhat similar to those of the present parliament of the province of Quebec. Hence the extreme importance of the Jugements et Délibérations now for the first time published.

3. Collection des Manuscrits du maréchal de Lévis, relatifs à la guerre de 1756-60 (war of 1756-60). Montreal and Qubec, 1889-95, 12 vols. 4to. paper. $30.00.

merit, it being no less than the indispensable complement of the celebrated *Relations des Jé-and ends with Dec. 31, 1668. The present edition is an exact reproduction of that of 1871, which

and all book lovers agree that it is one of the most perfect works, in point of typographical beauty, which the art of the printer has ever pro-
